LEBRIX PLANE CRASHES NEAR UFA, SOVIET RUSSIA

740 MILES DUE EAST OF MOSCOW

Paris, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—The ministry of air was informed today
that Joseph LeBrix and Rene Mis-
man were the two killed in the
crash of the Hyphen II in Russia
while Marcel Doret, the third occupant of the plane, escaped.

Moscow, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—The trans-
continental airplane Hyphen II in
which Joseph LeBrix, Marcel Doret
and Mechanic Misman were attempting to fly from Paris to Tokio crashed
today, reports reaching here said.

Two were killed. The bodies were
not immediately identified.

The crash occurred at 10 A. M. near Ufa, where the Tanipa river enters
the Belaia river.

Ufa is a town 700 miles almost
due east of Moscow, near the foothills
of the Ural mountains.

The Hyphen II passed Moscow last
night. The plane was one of two
which set out from Le Bourget field
outside Paris for Tokio in an effort
to set a new long-distance non-stop
flight record. The other plane, carrying Paul Codos and Raoul Robida,
was forced down at Neukerk, near Gledern, in the lower Rhine valley,
due to a defect in the gasoline tanks.

The crash ended the second unsuccessful attempt of LeBrix and Doret
to fly from Paris to Tokio. They came down in the Hyphen, their other
plane, near Irkutsk, Siberia, in July.
None of the three men was hurt in
that crash. The mechanic, Rene Mis-
man, was also aboard on the earlier
flight.

LeBrix returned to Paris and, un-
daunted, acquired a new plane and
again attempted the perilous long trans-continental flight toward the Orient.

He and Doret are among the French
flying aces. LeBrix crossed the South Atlantic with Dieudonne Costes in 1927, Paris to St. Louis, Senegal, Africa, and thence to Natal, Brazil. He later made an extensive tour, including the United States and the Orient.

On a flight from Paris to French
Indo-China in 1919, LeBrix had an other narrow escape from death. His plane crashed in Burma, but LeBrix
and his companion jumped in para-chutes to safety. LeBrix suffered leg injuries.

In his most recent flight which
ended disastrously today, LeBrix
hoped to set a straight line record of
over 6,000 miles and regain the honor
for France. It recently was taken from France by two American fliers,
Russell Boardman and John Polando,
who flew from New York to Istanbul,
Turkey, and set a record of some 5,000
miles.

LeBrix is an expert gunner as well as aviator. He won the Cross of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor in
the Moroccan campaign.

He split with Costes after their American tour and in recent years the
two fliers—both world famous—became bitter rivals.

Officials at Ufa, where the fliers
crashed, telegraphed descriptions of the two men killed. However, unless
the survivor is conscious, identification
will prove most difficult.

The brief message to the Osoviak-
him (aviation office) did not specify
which two of the three fliers were dead.

The plane had been sighted at Moscow last evening and Kazan early this morning. It apparently was driven
off its course or erred in navigation,
for it crashed about 100 miles off the Trans-Siberian route.

IN FOURTEEN STATES

Washington, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde announced
today that the seasons for hunting
wild fowl had been changed in 14
states.

The changes, approved by President
Hoover in an amendment to the migratory bird regulations, fixed the season in the month of November in Illinois, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

In Ohio and Indiana the season will
be from October 16 to November 15;
in Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas
and Oklahoma the season will be from October 20 to November 29; in Nevada,
Oregon and Washington the season
will commence November 16 and close
December 15.

All dates are inclusive and the season applies to wild ducks, geese, brant
and coot.

MOSCOW OPERA CO. TO APPEAR AT THE CHICAGO WORLD FAIR

London, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Albert
Coates, English director of the Moscow opera, announced today
that the Soviet authorities had authorized him to take the whole
Moscow Opera company to Chicago in 1933 for the world fair.
Coates said the Moscow company would give a series of performances "on a scale of true operatic splendor."

OPENING THEM TO BE OF PER-
ICAN AGRICULTURE

TO DISPOSE OF SURPLUS COM-
MODITIES BOUGHT IN STABIL-
IZATION OPERATIONS

Washington, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—The opening of new markets which will prove of permanent value to American agriculture is one of the aims of the federal farm board in disposal
of the surplus commodities purchased in stabilization operations.

Three of the board's largest transactions since July 1 have done this for wheat, putting the American product into countries which ordinarily consumed relatively small amounts of
either wheat or flour from this country.

"It is hoped these three sales will result in a permanently enlarged foreign market for our products," the
board said yesterday in a formal statement announcing conclusion of the sale of 7,500,000 bushels of winter
wheat to Germany. The other transactions were the sale of 15,000,000
bushels of wheat to China and the barring of 25,000,000 bushels for Brazilian coffee.

The board has under consideration
today a plan for disposition of its 2-
,000,000 bales of stabilization cotton
through the medium of a private com-
Factors' Association."

The proposal was made public by Senator Hastings, republican, Delaware, who said that while he could not give it his "specific" endorsement, he believed it merited "serious consideration."

Whether the board favors the proposal is not known as members thus far have declined to discuss it. However, the board's policy was made
clear recently by Carl Williams, cotton member, who said no cotton
would be sold at present prices and
no definite steps for disposal would
be taken until a "cotton program"
could be formulated.

The new plan, Hastings said, was
advanced by H. O. Schundler, New York City, and has the backing of a powerful syndicate. This syndicate
would deposit $50,000,000 with the board and receive as security the 2-
,000,000 bales of cotton for disposal.

The Cotton Factors' Association,
Hastings said, would market the cotton at a rate of 2,000 bales per day
over a period of four years, at the prevailing market price. However, if
on any day cotton rose to 12 cents or
more per pound, the company would
be entitled to sell up to 4,000 bales.

No official figures of the actual holdings of the board through its grain
stabilization corporation have been announced. At the conclusion of stabilization operations last June 5, the amount of government held wheat was estimated to be between 250,000,000
and 300,000,000 bushels. It seems likely that the lower figure was more nearly
correct after deduction of the 35,000,000
bushels sold in the regular export trade during the spring and early summer.

Subtracting the 47,500,000 sold to Germany, China and Brazil, and the 10,000,000 bushels sold in the domestic trade since July 1, the board now
would control less than 200,000,000
bushels. Chairman Stone has promised
a statement on this after a few other
transactions, now pending or in process of negotiation, are concluded.

Three Suspects in

said to be wanted for robberies and
robberies in three states have been arrested here.

The men arrested gave their names
as Theodore Olander, Charles Hop-

VOICED BY HER FOREIGN MINISTER

OF NATIONS ASSEMBLY

Geneva, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Germany
demanded a new reparations settlement and parity in armaments,
through the voice of her foreign minister, J. Julius Curtius, in an impassioned speech before the League of Nations assembly today.

The speech was one of the most notable in the German statesman's career.

While putting the league on trial,
Curtius was fully aware that he also
was on trial before the forum of German public opinion. He obviously intended to obliterate recollection of Germany's defeat through abandonment of the posed customs union
with Austria by implicitly condemning Aristide Briand's attempt to revive the Geneva protocol.

"The conviction that disarmament,
and not armaments, will afford security denotes the most significant characteristic of the league, contrasted
with earlier methods of international
politics," Curtius said.

"Security based upon supremacy in
armaments sows mistrust and revives
the armament race idea, the abolition
of which was the most vital purpose
of the creation of the league."

Curtius said Germany could not subscribe to a world disarmament treaty
which recognized existing inequalities
and which did not apply the same
method of restriction to various types
of armaments.

"The body of a man found slain in a
gully near Houlton, Wis., Thursday
was tentatively identified today as
that of 'Red' Murphy, alias Roy Car-
bough, St. Paul police character."

Beck, St. Paul, told Coroner W. W.
Beebe that she knew both names were aliases, and did not know his real
name.

Beebe today was awaiting a reply
from Duluth, Minn., to a wire sent
to a woman Miss Beck said was the slain man's mother. Murphy had a
St. Paul police record, she said.

Beebe scouted possibility that the
man had committed suicide.
"It would have been impossible for
the man to fire shots that would have
entered back of his head," the man
said. "The blood stained automobile
seat covers found near the body carry
out our theory of murder also."

Two Banks in Chicago Robbed of $12,500 to $17,500

Chicago, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Bandits
held up two banks in the Chicago metropolitan area today, seized between $12,500 and $17,500 and fled, one group
under pistol fire.

Five gunmen shortly before noon
invaded the Banco di Napoli on crowded South Halsted street in the Ghetto,
vaulted the cashier's cage, seized all
the money in sight and backed out to
their sedan under the muzzles of
sawed-off shotguns.

In Flossmoor, Ill., a southern sub-
urb, four men held up the State Bank
of Flossmoor and escaped with $2,500,
kidnaping the cashier, who was released unharmed a few miles away.

Wenatchee, Wash., Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—
A truck loaded with watermelons that
Walter Griffith was taking to market
skidded off the highway and burst into flames.

Griffith wasted several minutes looking for water. Then he had an idea.
He hurled watermelons at the blazing truck. They burst and water
spouted out. The 23rd melon put out
the fire.

KILLED AT LAKE GARDA, ITALY,
AFTER MAKING NEW MARK
FOR SEAPLANES

PLANE WRECKED AFTER TRAV-
MILES AN HOUR

Rome, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Man's quest
for speed claimed the life of Flight
Lieutenant Stenilo Bellini, killed at Lake Garda after he was unofficially
credited with establishing a new record for seaplanes of approximately 450
miles an hour. His seaplane was wrecked.

Bellini was killed late yesterday during a speed trial over Olive Orchard Beach. He was attempting to win the world's speed record for Italy prior to today's Schneider Cup races in England, in which Italy is not represented.

It was understood that time keepers of the Italian Aero Club checked
Bellini's speed at an average of 725
kilometers (450.225 miles) an hour in two straightaway dashes over a measured mile. He was flying a Macchi seaplane equipped with two Fiat motors.

If Bellini had broken the record his
mark would not have been recognized
as it was not held under stipulated
international conditions.

Calshot, England, Sept. 12.—Unfavor-
able weather today caused the postponement of the Schneider Cup sea-
plane speed races.

The races will be held Sunday, beginning at 12:30

LEBRIX PLANE CRASHES NEAR UFA, SOVIET RUSSIA

MOSCOW

Paris, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—The min-
that Joseph LeBrix and Rene Mis-
man were the two killed in the
crash of the Hyphen II in Russia
while Marcel Doret, the third oc-
cupant of the plane, escaped.

Moscow, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—The trans-
continental airplane Hyphen II in
which Joseph LeBrix, Marcel Doret
and Mechanic Misman were attempt-
ing to fly from Paris to Tokio crashed
today, reports reaching here said.

Two were killed. The bodies were
not immediately identified.

The crash occurred at 10 A. M. near Ufa, where the Tanipa river enters
the Belaita river.

Ufa is a town 700 miles almost
due east of Moscow, near the foothills
of the Ural mountains.

The Hyphen II passed Moscow last
night. The plane was one of two
which set out from Le Bourget field
outside Paris for Tokio in an effort
ing Paul Codos and Raoul Robida,
was forced down at Nieuquerk, near Gledern, in the lower Rhine valley,
due to a defect in the gasoline tanks.

The crash ended the second un-
successful attempt of LeBrix and Doret
to fly from Paris to Tokio. They
plane, near Irkutsk, Siberia, in July.

None of the three men was hurt in
that crash. The mechanic, Rene Mis-
flight.

LeBrix returned to Paris and, un-
trans-continental flight toward the Orient.

He and Doret are among the French
Atlantic with Dieudonne Costes in 1927, Paris to St. Louis, Senegal, Africa, and thence to Natal, Brazil. He
later made an extensive tour, including the United States and the Orient.

On a flight from Paris to French
Indo-China in 1919, LeBrix had an
other narrow escape from death. His
plane crashed in Burma, but LeBrix
and his companion jumped in para-
chutes to safety. LeBrix suffered leg
injuries.

In his most recent flight which
ended disastrously today, LeBrix
over 6,000 miles and regain the honor
for France. It recently was taken
from France by two American fliers,
Russell Boardman and John Polando,
who flew from New York to Istanbul,
Turkey, and set a record of some 5,000
miles.

LeBrix is an expert gunner as well as an aviator. He won the Cross of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor in
the Moroccan campaign.

He split with Coste after their American tour and in recent years the
two fliers—both world famous—became bitter rivals.

Officials at Ufa, where the fliers
crashed, telegraphed descriptions of
will prove most difficult.

The brief message to the Osaviak-
him (aviation office) did not specify
which two of the three fliers were
dead.

cow last evening and Kazan early this morning. It apparently was driven
for it crashed about 100 miles off the

Washington, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde announced
today that the seasons for hunting
states.

The changes, approved by President
Hoover in an amendment to the mi-
gratory bird regulations, fixed the sea-
son in the month of November in Il-
Rhode Island.

In Ohio and Indiana the season will
in Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas
and Oklahoma the season will be from
October 20 to November 29; in Nevada,
Oregon and Washington the season
will commence November 16 and close
December 15.

All dates are inclusive and the season applies to wild ducks, geese, brant
and coot.

MOSCOW OPERA CO. TO APPEAR AT THE CHICAGO WORLD FAIR

London, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Albert
Coates, English director of the Moscow opera, announced today
that the Soviet authorities had
authorized him to take the whole
Moscow Opera company to Chi-
cago in 1933 for the world fair.

Coates said the Moscow company would give a series of performances "on a scale of true op-
eratic splendor."

OPENING THEM TO BE OF PER-
ICAN AGRICULTURE

MODITIES BOUGHT IN STABIL-
IZATION OPERATIONS

Washington, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—The
opening of new markets which will prove of permanent value to American agriculture is one of the aims of the federal farm board in disposal
stabilization operations.

Three of the board's largest transactions since July 1 have done this for wheat, putting the American product into countries which ordinarily consumed relatively small amounts of
either wheat or flour from this country.

"It is hoped these three sales will
eign market for our products," the
ment announcing conclusion of the
sale of 7,500,000 bushels of winter
wheat to Germany. The other trans-
actions were the sale of 15,000,000
bushels of wheat to China and the bartering of 25,000,000 bushels for Brazilian coffee.

The board has under consideration
today a plan for disposition of its 2-600,000 bales of stabilization cotton
through the medium of a private com-
Factors' Association."

The proposal was made public by Senator Hastings, republican, Dela-
ware, who said that while he could not
give it his "specific" endorsement, he
believed it merited "serious consideration."

Whether the board favors the proposal is not known as members thus
far have declined to discuss it. However, the board's policy was made
clear recently by Carl Williams, cot-
ton member, who said no cotton
would be sold at present prices and
no definite steps for disposal would
be taken until a "cotton program"
could be formulated.

advanced by H. O. Schundler, New York City, and has the backing of a
powerful syndicate. This syndicate
would deposit $50,000,000 with the
board and receive as security the 2-600,000 bales of cotton for disposal.

The Cotton Factors' Association,
Hastings said, would market the cot-
over a period of four years, at the
prevailing market price. However, if
more per pound, the company would

No official figures of the actual hold-
stabilization corporation have been announced. At the conclusion of stabilization operations last June 5, the
amount of government held wheat was
that the lower figure was more nearly
bushels sold in the regular export
trade during the spring and early
summer.

Subtracting the 47,500,000 sold to Germany, China and Brazil, and the 10,000,000 bushels sold in the domestic
trade since July 1, the board now
would control less than 200,000,000
bushels. Chairman Stone has promised
a statement on this after a few other
transactions, now pending or in pro-

Pierce, Neb., Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Three men who Thursday night escaped from jail at Kennebec, S. D., and who are
arrested here.

The men arrested gave their names
as Theodore Olander, Charles Hop-
wood and the third J. Packman.

When arrested, the three were said
by officers to have been traveling in a

MINISTER

OF NATIONS ASSEMBLY

Geneva, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Germany
demanded a new reparations settle-
ment and parity in armaments,
through the voice of her foreign minister, J. Julius Curtius, in an impassioned speech before the League of Nations assembly today.

Curtius called upon the league "to justify its existence," and asserted that the world-organization's fate depends upon the vigor and ability with which it will cope with the world economic dilemma, and its achievement of real reduction in armaments.

The speech was one of the most notable in the German statesman's car-
reer.

While putting the league on trial,
Curtius was fully aware that he also
tended to obliterate recollection of Germany's defeat through abandonment of the proposed customs union
with Austria by implicitly condemn-
ing Aristide Briand's attempt to re-
vive the Geneva protocol.

"The conviction that disarmament,
and not armaments, will afford security denotes the most significant characteristic of the league, contrasted
with earlier methods of international
politics," Curtius said.

"Security based upon supremacy in
armaments sows mistrust and revives
the armament race idea, the abolition
of the creation of the league."

Curtius said Germany could not sub-
scribe to a world disarmament treaty
which recognized existing inequalities
and which did not apply the same
method of restriction to various types
of armaments.

FANTASTIC STORY ABOUT PIRATES IS THE TRUTH

MRS. BENJAMIN COLLINGS TELLS HOW HUSBAND WAS KILLED
ON LONG ISLAND SOUND

TWO MEN BOUND HER HUSBAND, THREW HIM OVERBOARD
FROM MOTORBOAT

By SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

Syosset, L. I., Sept. 12.—Twenty-four hours of investigation, of close questioning, and a re-enactment of the tragedy, have convinced authorities that Mrs. Benjamin Collings' fantastic story of how her husband was killed by Long Island Sound pirates is the truth.

Following reports from a ferry boat
captain that he had seen the overall-clad body of a man drifting near the point where, according to Mrs. Collings, two men bound her husband and threw him overboard from his motorboat, the Penguin, search for the missing man was continued today.

A search of the Penguin, discovery of an old and evidently unused revolver—but no ammunition—and a thorough digest of the contents of Mrs.
Collings' diary disclosed no new clues
for Nassau county authorities.

The diary, it was said, was merely a desultory account of minor events occurring over some years.

The theory to which the authorities are giving considerable attention is that Mrs. Collings was the witness of a drama staged for some definite purpose. The attack of the "pirates" could not be explained as an attempted robbery, for nothing of value was taken from the Penguin. Furthermore, the fact that the two men, "one about 50
and the other about 18" left Mrs. Collings several blankets when they "kidnaped her and abandoned her in an anchored motorboat" appears unlike the action of men who had just slain
her husband.

Mrs. Collings returned to her home in Stamford last night, and willingly repeated her story to newspaper reporters, despite the strain of the ordeal through which she has been during the past two days.

and tear gas gun. Their car was said to have been stolen by Hopwood from his father at Sioux Falls, S. D.

Capture of the three came when Sheriff Schwartz, of Pierce county, was notified of the presence of strange
persons in the vicinity of Randolph.

The men were said to be wanted in Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota.

BODY OF MAN FOUND SLAIN IN GULLY IDENTIFIED

BELIEVED TO BE THAT OF "RED" MURPHY, ST. PAUL POLICE
CHARACTER

New Richmond, Wis., Sept. 12.—
was tentatively identified today as
that of "Red" Murphy, alias Roy Car-
bough, St. Paul police character.

Beck, St. Paul, told Coroner W. W.
Beebe that she knew both names were
name.

Beebe today was awaiting a reply
from Duluth, Minn., to a wire sent
to a woman Miss Beck said was the
slain man's mother. Murphy had a
St. Paul police record, she said.

man had committed suicide.

"It would have been impossible for
the man to fire shots that would have
entered back of his head," the man
said. "The blood stained automobile

TWO BANKS IN CHICAGO ROBBED OF $12,500 TO $17,500

Chicago, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Bandits
held up two banks in the Chicago metropolitan area today, seized between $12,500 and $17,500 and fled, one group
under pistol fire.

invaded the Banco di Napoli on crowd-
ed South Halsted street in the Ghetto,
vaulted the cashier's cage, seized all
the money in sight and backed out to
their sedan under the muzzles of
sawed-off shotguns.

In Flossmoor, Ill., a southern sub-
urb, four men held up the State Bank
of Flossmoor and escaped with $2,500,
kidnaping the cashier, who was re-

Wenatchee, Wash., Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—
A truck loaded with watermelons that
Walter Griffith was taking to market
skidded off the highway and burst into
flames.

Griffith wasted several minutes looking for water. Then he had an idea.

He hurled watermelons at the blaz-
spouted out. The 23rd melon put out
the fire.

FIGHTING FOR A LIFE

Precious serum brought from Buffalo by plane, then rushed to Billings Memorial Hospital at Chicago, is injected into the arm of Mrs. Carrie Nelson of Chicago, afflicted with the rare and usually fatal Addison's disease.
Dr. Knute Reuterskiold (left) said the serum, obtained after a nationwide appeal had been made, would last for three or four days—then more must be obtained. The other physician is Dr. John Van De Erve.

MILES AN HOUR

Rome, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Man's quest
for speed claimed the life of Flight
Lieutenant Stenislao Bellini, killed at Lake Garda after he was unofficially
credited with establishing a new record for seaplanes of approximately 450
miles an hour. His seaplane was wrecked.

Bellini was killed late yesterday during a speed trial over Olive Orchard
Beach. He was attempting to win the world's speed record for Italy prior
to today's Schneider Cup races in England, in which Italy is not represented.

It was understood that time keep-
ers of the Italian Aero Club checked
Bellini's speed at an average of 725
kilometers (450.225 miles) an hour in
two straightaway dashes over a measured mile. He was flying a Macchi seaplane equipped with two Fiat motors.

If Bellini had broken the record his
mark would not have been recognized
as it was not held under stipulated
international conditions.

Calshot, England, Sept. 12.—Unfavor-
able weather today caused the postponement of the Schneider Cup sea-
plane speed races.

The races will be held Sunday, beginning at 12:30 P. M., weather permitting.

AMELIA EARHART WRECKS AUTOGIRO WHILE LANDING

Detroit, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Amelia
Earhart, trans-Atlantic flier, today wrecked her autogiro while landing
during an exhibition at the Michigan state fair here.

Her husband, waiting on the ground for her, ran toward the plane when the crash occurred. Before anyone could reach the autogiro Miss Earhart climbed from the wreckage.

Cupid Plays Havoc with White House Secret Service Staff

Washington, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Cupid is playing havoc with the White House secret service staff.

The second of the presidential body-guards to fall is George Drescher who is to be married today in Baltimore
to Miss Jessie Bevin of Washington.
Drescher's comrade on the White House detail, Wade Broughton, was married here two weeks ago.

SNIPERS AND MACHINE GUNS IN MINE DUEL

Morgantown, W. Va., Sept. 12.— (U.P.)—A battle between snipers armed with rifles and mine guards using machine guns occurred today at the Connellsville mine in the Scott's Run coal strike district.

One mine guard was wounded
before the attackers were dispersed with tear gas bombs.

CHARGE O. E. WADE WITH KILLING OF A. S. MARSHALL

LATTER OF NEW LISBON, WIS., WAS APPRAISER FOR WIS-CONSIN ANNUITY BOARD

BUSINESS AFFAIRS OF WADE DE-CLARED SOMEWHAT OF
A MYSTERY

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—
County Attorney W. C. Crocker today swore out a first degree murder warrant for O. E. Wade, Farmington, Minn., charging him with the killing of Alvin S. Marshall, New Lisbon, Wis., appraiser for the Wisconsin annuity board.

State police are watching all roads
on the theory that Wade may try to leave the state, Crocker said.

An attempt to identify Wade as one of the two men who attempted to cash
a check taken from Marshall at Mosinee, Wis., Friday was unsuccessful, Crocker said.

Identification was made from photographs by Frank Koenig, Hudson cafe owner, and Ray Hanson, Hudson, who were in a Hudson cafe when two strangers entered it several days ago
and tried to cash a check.

Fred Malleck, formerly of Stevens Point, Wis., is being held without charge in the county jail here after he was picked up yesterday in Crandon, Wis., when police noticed that his description tallied with that of Wade.

Crocker believes Malleck to be innocent of implication in the crime, and said that although the likeness was startling, Malleck was able to prove that he had nothing to do with the murder.

Farmington, Minn., Sept. 12.—The business affairs of O. E. Wade, former garage proprietor who was charged with the murder of Alvin S. Marshall, New Lisbon, Wis., were somewhat of
a mystery.

Wade always seemed to have plenty of money although his garage
was not prosperous, neighbors said.

MAHATMA GANDHI REACHES ENGLAND

RAIN ON LANDING, WEARS INEVITABLE LOIN CLOTH

Folkstone, Eng., Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—The Mahatma M. K. Gandhi reached England here today at 1:15 P. M., on his way to London.

On landing from the Channel steamer, Gandhi walked along the railroad track to a waiting motor car in a drizzling rain, clad in his inevitable loin cloth. He had two white shawls thrown over his thin shoulders and wore sandals, but his shaved head
and legs were bare.

He carried several shawls under his arm as he entered the front of a closed automobile driven by F. A. M. Vincent, social secretary at the Indian conference and former commissioner of police in Bombay. Before they drove off for London, Gandhi gratefully accepted an automobile rug which he spread over his knees. He passed a hand over his dripping
brown body and looking up at Vincent, smiled in appreciation of the efforts to make him comfortable.

Gandhi's secretary, Mahadeo Desai, accompanied him. A motor car carrying agents from Scotland Yard followed Gandhi's automobile.

Expert Accountants Study Bookkeeping of Foshay Company

Minneapolis, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Expert accountants will discuss the bookkeeping system of the defunct Foshay company at the resumption Monday of the trial of W. B. Foshay and six associates on charges of using the mails to defraud.

for the week end, leaving the prosecution in the midst of introducing audit reports as evidence.

BELIZE STORM WAS ACCOMPANIED BY A TIDAL WAVE

4 SHIPS BELIEVED IN CARIB-BEAN IN PATH OF HURRICANE ARE UNREPORTED

GALE STRUCK SAN JUAN, PORTO RICO, WITH LESSENING FORCE

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Sept. 12.— (U.P.)—Reports from Zaruma in southern Ecuador near the Pacific coast, said a hurricane had struck there, destroying the hospital and causing a panic.

(By United Press)

The city of Belize, capital of British Honduras, is in ruins and from 150 to 400 residents are dead in the hurricane that crashed through the city Thursday destroying hundreds of houses
and disrupting communications.

A second intense storm, sweeping over San Juan, Porto Rico, at a 300-mile rate, uprooted houses, destroyed
plantations, and resulted in the known deaths of two persons.

Both storms, according to meteorological experts, were beating themselves out today, the first on the Mexican mainland, and the second against a mountain range in Haiti.

Relief forces, organized in Washington, were hurrying medicine, food and other supplies to British Honduras.
United States naval vessels were ordered to Belize, B. H., and planes carrying serum were ready to fly over the distressed territory.

An aviator who reached Belize but was unable to land because of terrible weather conditions, reported a greater part of the city razed by the storm and a heavy flood which swept in on the heels of the terrific wind.

The two hurricanes were regarded as separate storms.

No convincing estimate of material loss could be obtained early today, for lack of communications.

Miami, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—Two tropical hurricanes sweeping over the Caribbean, one leaving the city of Belize, British Honduras, in ruins, with 400 reported dead and 600 injured, the other striking with less force at San Juan, Porto Rico, appeared to be losing their destructive power today.

The Belize storm, accompanied by a tidal wave that sent a flood of water
eight feet deep through the Honduras capital, was reported spreading itself
in the area northeast of Vera Cruz, Cruz, Mexico, the United States weather bureau announced.

Fear in Florida that the San Juan storm, which tore through the city at 100 miles an hour, uprooting houses and destroying communications, power lines and plantation equipment, might reach the southern coast of the United States with the intensity of 1928 and 1929, was set at rest by government assurances.

R. W. Grey, Miami, meteorologist, announced the San Juan hurricane had passed over Santo Domingo, 1,000 miles south of here late yesterday and was undoubtedly spent against a mountain range of from 2,000 to 10,000 feet
altitude near Port au Prince, Haiti, 50 miles west of Santo Domingo.

Officials of Washington University,
St. Louis, received a message from Bishop Joseph A. Murphy, of the Jesuit Mission at Belize, saying 11 members of St. John's College and 30 students had been killed in the disaster. The college was destroyed, the message said.

A message to the state department and Bishop Murphy's casualty list combined to list the following dead:
Rev. Father William Tracy, St.
Louis; Rev. Fr. William Ferris, St.
Louis; Rev. Fr. Bernard New, Buffalo;
Rev. Fr. Leo Rooney, Superior, Wis.;
Rev. Fr. Francis Kempfhus, Cincinnati; Alf Barneister, Cleveland; Richard Koch, St. Louis; Richard Smith, Racine, Wis.; John Rodgers, Reading, Pa.

Four ships believed to have been in the Caribbean somewhere in the vicinity of the path of the hurricane were unreported. They were the Point
New Orleans last Tuesday for San Francisco;

Howard Ingersoll and Guilford Manor leave tomorrow to attend college, the former at the University of Minnesota and the latter at St. Thomas college.

Frank Greene, formerly of Brainerd, who was division superintendent on various divisions of the Northern Pacific in the early eighties and early nineties, being in charge of the Superior division about 1893, has just been promoted to the position of land and tax agent of the Pacific coast company, having heretofore for some time been special claim agent. Mr. Greene has many friends here who will be pleased to hear of his promotion. Mr. Greene has had a long career in rail-roading having worked for Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and Great Northern railroads, as well as several western corporations.

Elliott, the present supply agent, has been promoted to the newly created position of assistant purchasing agent and O. C. Wakefield, former chief clerk to Mr. Elliott, succeeds him, while Mr. Nichols takes Mr. Wakefield's place. Mr. Nichols has been here a long time and is well known in Brainerd. Consideration of legislation to prevent newsboys running across streets between intersections was in the mind of Chief of Police Thomas Templeton today as a protective measure.

"Sooner or later some newsboy is going to be hurt by an automobile. They persist in running up to moving vehicles. We might have to limit the sale of papers to street stands at corners," the chief said.

A special city ordinance will be necessary before the change in the sale of newspapers can be made.

Forests Important to Fish Life

THE knowledge of uses and products of the forests is increasing each year. They have a definite influence upon water for lakes and streams, and furnish a home for birds and animals, says the Park Rapids paper which has its home in this lake and forest country. Inasmuch as the forests have a part in the condition and amount of water in this northern country, there is an indirect effect upon fish and fishing.

The North Shore is one of the famous trout fishing regions of the state. The destruction of the forest cover by axe and fire has brought conditions to a point where the remainder must be completely protected or fishing will be gone within the next ten years, according to Dr. T. Surber, superintendent of fish propagation, of the State Game and Fish Commission.

"Fish must have the proper conditions for food, protection, pure cool water which is constant in flow," said Dr. Surber. "The slightest change in temperature, purity of water, or fluctuation of water levels in either the stream or lake may prevent breeding and spawning."

Land covered by trees, brush or grass, will catch and absorb great quantities of water, either from rainfall or the melting snows. Water is stored in the layer of humus on the ground and gradually seeps into the ground to replenish the underground water supplies. It moves slowly through the ground coming out in the streams, or it may appear in the form of springs at the bottom of a lake some distance away. This regular flow of seepage water means that the stream and lake levels will be constant the year round, even during periods of drought when there is no rainfall. When lake levels go down, when streams flood in the spring and go dry in the summer, when springs stop flowing, and when wells go dry, the cause is back on land, where the forests have been cut or burned away and water is not caught and stored as it should be.

Reducing Surplus Wheat

A NEW method for the reduction of the surplus of low-priced wheat and other grains, which may ultimately mean the removal from the surplus of millions of bushels, has been found by northwest farmers who are preparing to turn a vast amount of these grains into choice lamb chops. This fall the greatest program of sheep feeding ever undertaken in this territory is being observed with great interest by agricultural experts throughout the country.

Half a million western lambs will be brought into Minnesota and the Dakotas to eat up a substantial amount of the grain surplus which has held prices to the lowest levels in history. It has been indicated by John W. Haw, head of the agricultural development department of the Northern Pacific railway, that a survey his department made assures that northwest farmers will at least double the number of lambs fed in 1930.

The fattening of lambs is carried on during the fall and early winter and can be handled by the farmers without interfering with other work. Lambs usually come from the ranges weighing 50 to 60 pounds each. In 100 days of feeding, they can be brought up to a market table weight of 85 to 90 pounds. Fat lambs usually bring about one-third more per pound than immature, thin lambs. Most farmers will feed from 300 to 1,000 head.

Defer Hearing on Rail Rate Increase

THE application of the railroad companies operating in the State of Minnesota for an increase of 15 per cent in all railroad rates in the state has attracted much attention and both sides to the controversy were preparing evidence to be introduced.

Now the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission states that owing to the work involved for all interested parties in the proceeding, and conflicts which would be brought about by carrying out the program outlined in the notices sent out by the commission on August 10 under which Monday, September 21, at 10 a. m. was designated as the date and time for hearing the matter by this commission, it has been found necessary to cancel the date designated.

Numerous other cases having been set down for hearing by the commission and for this reason it is impossible at this time to designate a suitable date for hearing the case, but notices later will be sent out when an open date is found which will be satisfactory to all concerned.

Praises Brainerd Fire Chief

DEPUTY FIRE MARSHAL GEORGE G. MAGNUSON, who in company with Deputy H. V. Himsel and Fire Chief Frank Fuller made an investigation of the city schools, found them in excellent shape, with no defects and basements in very clean condition.

Mr. Magnuson commended Mr. Fuller very highly for his efficient work in connection with fire prevention in Brainerd. He is enforcing fire ordinances to the letter and is giving all matters pertaining to fire prevention his constant attention. Men of his caliber make it much easier for the state department to perform its duty, and his cooperation is highly appreciated.

THE Universal Fur Breeders Association of Brainerd, exhibiting live animals and pelts at the State Fair, distributed much Chamber of Commerce literature bringing favorable publicity for Brainerd and the Lake Region.

London Is Alarmed by 21 Murders; 421 in New York

British Capital Stirred by Increase in Crime, but All but One of Its Slayers Were Punished or Committed Suicide

LORD BYNG OF VIMY SCOTLAND YARD.

What would be cause for surprised satisfaction in the United States, New York, let's say, in particular, is supplying wrinkles in the brows of London's law enforcement officials. The cause of the disquietude in London is due to the fact that 21 murders were committed in 1930 in the area supervised by the London metropolitan police. That area has nearly 12,000,000 people. In New York, for the same year, 421 homicides were committed. And yet the English fret. Where all but one of the 21 slayers in London were either arrested and punished or committed suicide, the 421 murderers in New York escaped almost as a body. Out of that stupendous number, 280 arrests were made and less than 20 per cent of these resulted in convictions. Lord Byng of Vimy, London's Commissioner of Police, decries the increase in English crime, but he should look across the Atlantic if he wishes to see the underworld at its best—or worst.

Just a Hot Card Game

Mike Farris and Harry Miller appear to be enjoying their game of cards in a temple of fire at Los Angeles. However, they are really demonstrating a new asbestos suit which will permit firemen to venture into flames without danger. The stunt was staged by the Los Angeles fire department.

It's in the Blood

Show a Scotchman a bagpipe and he'll enter a contest. And that applies regardless of age. Here are the extremes in the Scottish music festival at Banff, Canada. Six-year-old Ian Inkster vies with Neil Sutherland, 6 ft. 4 in., for the honors. What the little fellow lacked in stature he made up in wind power.

To Attempt Atlantic Flight

Announcing their intention of attempting a non-stop flight from Lisbon to New York, these two German aviators, Christian Johannsen (left) and Willy Rody, are at the Portuguese city awaiting favorable weather.

John Boles and Lupe Velez in a scene from "Resurrection." One of the most important theatrical announcements of the year was made today by the management of the Palace Theatre in the fact that the Universal super-production, "Resurrection," from Tolstoy's immortal love epic, with John Boles and Lupe Velez, will be the attraction, beginning Saturday at midnight performance.

The newest member of the Federal Farm Board is James B. Madison, of Charleston, W. Va., appointed by the President to succeed Floyd B. Harrison, resigned. Mr. Madison is a banker and 42.

World's Machinery

The world absorbs annually about $5,000,000,000 worth of machinery. The production of this equipment employs over 2,000,000 workmen; the number employed in each of the leading countries, the United States, Great Britain and Germany, is nearly equal—about 500,000 in each country. —United States Commerce Reports.

Deduction

Harry, a five-year-old farm lad, always ate a soft-boiled egg for breakfast. One morning he cut his egg open, and finding it hard, said: "Mamma, I think I forgot to water the chickens yesterday."

Forests Important to Fish Life

THE knowledge of uses and products of the forests is increasing each year. They have a definite influence upon water for lakes and streams, and furnish a home for birds and animals, says the Park Rapids paper which has its home in this lake and forest country. Inasmuch as the forests have a part in the condition and amount of water in this northern country, there is an indirect effect upon fish and fishing.

The North Shore is one of the famous trout fishing regions of the state. The destruction of the forest cover by axe and fire has brought conditions to a point where the remainder must be completely protected or fishing will be gone within the next ten years, according to Dr. T. Surber, superintendent of fish propagation, of the State Game and Fish Commission.

"Fish must have the proper conditions for food, protection, pure cool water which is constant in flow," said Dr. Surber. "The slightest change in temperature, purity of water, or fluctuation of water levels in either the stream or lake may prevent breeding and spawning."

A. W. Stone, district ranger, Park Rapids, explains how the forests help to maintain the conditions which Dr. Surber states are necessary.

Land covered by trees, brush or grass, will catch and absorb great quantities of water, either from rainfall or the melting snows. Water is stored in the layer of humus on the ground and gradually seeps into the ground to replenish the underground water supplies. It moves slowly through the ground coming out in the streams, or it may appear in the form of springs at the bottom of a lake some distance away. This regular flow of seepage water means that the stream and lake levels will be constant the year round, even during periods of drought when there is no rainfall. When lake levels go down, when streams flood in the spring and go dry in the summer, when springs stop flowing, and when wells go dry, the cause is back on land, where the forests have been cut or burned away and water is not caught and stored as it should be.

A NEW method for the reduction of the surplus of low-priced wheat and other grains, which may ultimately mean the removal from the surplus of millions of bushels, has been found by northwest farmers who are preparing to turn a vast amount of these grains into choice lamb chops. This fall the greatest program of sheep feeding ever undertaken in this territory is being observed with great interest by agricultural experts throughout the country.

Half a million western lambs will be brought into Minnesota and the Dakotas to eat up a substantial amount of the grain surplus which has held prices to the lowest levels in history. It has been indicated by John W. Haw, head of the agricultural development department of the Northern Pacific railway, that a survey his department made assures that northwest farmers will at least double the number of lambs fed in 1930.

The fattening of lambs is carried on during the fall and early winter and can be handled by the farmers without interfering with other work. Lambs usually come from the ranges weighing 50 to 60 pounds each. In 100 days of feeding, they can be brought up to a market table weight of 85 to 90 pounds. Fat lambs usually bring about one-third more per pound than immature, thin lambs. Most farmers will feed from 300 to 1,000 head.

THE application of the railroad companies operating in the State of Minnesota for an increase of 15 per cent in all railroad rates in the state has attracted much attention and both sides to the controversy were preparing evidence to be introduced.

Brainerd, as one of the large railway shop towns of the Northern Pacific railway company, is deeply interested in the outcome of the application made.

Now the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission states that owing to the work involved for all interested parties in the proceeding, and conflicts which would be brought about by carrying out the program outlined in the notices sent out by the commission on August 10 under which Monday, September 21, at 10 a. m. was designated as the date and time for hearing the matter by this commission, it has been found necessary to cancel the date designated.

Numerous other cases having been set down for hearing by the commission and for this reason it is impossible at this time to designate a suitable date for hearing the case, but notices later will be sent out when an open date is found which will be satisfactory to all concerned.

DEPUTY FIRE MARSHAL GEORGE G. MAGNUSON, who in company with Deputy H. V. Himsl and Fire Chief Frank Fuller made an investigation of the city schools, found them in excellent shape, with no defects and basements in very clean condition.

Mr. Magnuson commended Mr. Fuller very highly for his efficient work in connection with fire prevention in Brainerd. He is enforcing fire ordinances to the letter and is giving all matters pertaining to fire prevention his constant attention. Men of his caliber make it much easier for the state department to perform its duty, and his cooperation is highly appreciated.

Food for Thought

Students at the Luther College, Fergus Falls, Minn., with insufficient funds to pay their tuition need not worry this Fall. The trustees have announced they will accept wheat grown on farms from which the students come in payment of the tuition. E. H. Ness, of the college committee, is shown accepting a load of grain from one of the girl students.

STAGG, MARRIED 37 YEARS, STILL WIPES DISHES

Amos Alonzo Stagg, grand old man of football and mentor of the University of Chicago football team, photographed with Mrs. Stagg on their thirty-seventh wedding anniversary. The famous coach revealed the fact that much of his happiness in married life was due to the fact that he has always wiped the dishes for Mrs. Stagg and that in return, she helps him with signals and play charts.

SOUTH SIDE, NORTHEAST SETTLE CHAMPIONSHIP SUNDAY

JARBOE, FRANKS OPPOSING HURLERS IN FINAL CLASSIC

CITY PENNANT WINNERS TO BE DECIDED; REGULAR TEAMS TO PLAY

20 PIECE BAND IN ATTENDANCE; FLEA FOR ADMISSION CHARGE ADVANCED

South Side and Northeast will wind up city baseball in a blaze of excitement and glory Sunday at 3 p. m. when the teams battle on the municipal field for the city championship.

Three games have already been played in the playoff series. South Side won the first game, Northeast won the next and the third game finished in a 1 to 1 tie.

That tie will be settled and to the winner will go the pennant after nine innings of fast close baseball.

Jarboe for Northeast and Franks for the South Side will do mound duties. Both have given wonderful accounts this summer. Franks will leave after the game for his home in St. Paul.

The same lineups to represent the teams this summer will back their respective pitchers.

Erickson, Uddenberg and Sheffo will officiate.

Tickets sold for the three game playoff will not be recognized at the Sunday game. Officials said they hoped everyone attending will come prepared to pay admission.

The championship trophy will be presented the winning team after the game.

Monmouth Beach, N. J., Sept. 12.—(AP)—J. Walter Spalding, pioneer baseball player and co-founder of the sporting goods firm of A. G. Spalding & Bros., and recently chairman of the board died at his home here yesterday at the age of 75.

He was born in Bron, Ogle county, Ill., educated in the Rockford, Ill., public schools, and took up banking in Iowa and Rockford.

When he was 20, his brother interested him in a sporting goods store. With their mother as witness for their partnership contract, J. Walter and A. G. Spalding opened a shop in Randolph St., Chicago, March 1, 1876.

Subsequently they began manufacturing and their business grew.

Spalding is survived by his two sons, Albert, noted violinist, and H. Boardman Spalding, and a sister, Mrs. William Thayer Brown. Mrs. Spalding, the former Marie Boardman of Chicago, died in Florence, Italy, last year.

GEORGE M. LOTT FACES VINES IN FINAL ROUND

THE NATIONAL TENNIS SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP IS BEING PLAYED TODAY

LOTT ADVANCED BY DECISIVE 3-SET DEFEAT OF JOHNNY DOEG, FORMER CHAMP

By HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 12.—George M. Lott of Philadelphia, veteran of four Davis Cup campaigns and twice winner of the United States doubles title, faced Ellsworth Vines, the sensational Pasadena, Calif., youngster, in the final round of the men's national tennis singles championship here today.

Lott gained his berth in the championship bracket by a decisive three-set defeat of Johnny Doeg, defending champion from Newark, N. J., while Vines advanced after a five-set battle with Frederick J. Perry, the brilliant young British internationalist.

Lott and Vines have met twice this season and on both occasions the former has been returned the winner. The Philadelphia defeated the lanky, 19-year-old coast boy on clay at New Orleans during the winter and Vines, taken ill with nervous indigestion, defaulted to him in the Southampton final after four sets had been divided.

Despite this record, Lott will take the court as the underdog. Vines, as a result of victories in four "big time" tournaments this summer, and magnificent play in the national so far, has become the "people's choice" and will have their backing until he falls. Certainly, the California stripling looked every inch a champion in rallying to whip Perry yesterday. Beaten and battered in the first two sets he came back with a mighty surge in the last three sets to overwhelm the British star with a barrage of dazzling shots. Not since Tilden ranged the amateur pastures, has a player shown such flawless stroking, such a tremendous service, and such a will to win.

Lott was very impressive in his straight-set rout of Doeg. If he plays today as he did yesterday Vines will be driven to the utmost to win. Doeg, who only the day before had eliminated Frank Shields, No. 1 man in the 1931 Davis Cup squad, was helpless before Lott's withering attack.

New York, Sept. 12.—The Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals, respective leaders in the American and National League pennant races, are within a few games of mathematically clinching 1931 honors.

The New York Giants, seven games behind with 14 to play, are the only club still to be eliminated in the National League, while the Washington Senators, 13 games behind with 17 to play, and the New York Yankees, 15½ games to the bad with 16 to play, still have a mathematical prospect of winning American League honors.

The Yankees lost ground yesterday in a 3 to 1 defeat by Chicago and must win their double-header with the White Sox today to stay in the race. Ted Lyons flashed his old time class to defeat the Yankees, allowing 11 scattered safeties.

Danny MacFayden pitched Boston to a 5 to 0 triumph over Boston in the only other American League game.

National League competition brought no changes in standings, with the league-leading St. Louis Cards and second place New York Giants losing to Boston and Pittsburgh respectively.

Ben Cantwell held the Cardinals to eight scattered hits while his mates pounded two St. Louis pitchers for 17 hits, and a 6-3 victory.

Brooklyn retained its half-game margin over Chicago in the fight for third place by defeating Cincinnati, 8 to 3.

Five hit pitching by Bob Smith enabled the Chicago Cubs to defeat Philadelphia, 3 to 1.

Larry French pitched and batted Pittsburgh to a 3 to 2 victory over New York.

SAINTS DEFEAT MILWAUKEE 8 TO 7 YESTERDAY IN 12-INNING GAME (By United Press)

St. Paul and Kansas City have demonstrated to their opponents just why they are leading in the American baseball association. It's their ability to outslug rival teams when pitching staffs fail to function.

St. Paul, virtual league champion, defeated Milwaukee, 8 to 7 yesterday in a 12-inning game. The Saints took the lead in the seventh inning, only to lose it in the eighth when their pitchers failed. But they came back in the same inning to gain another run. Milwaukee tied the score in the ninth. The Saints finally won out in the twelfth. St. Paul used three pitchers, Milwaukee two.

Kansas City in second place won from Minneapolis, 12 to 11, after their opponents had scored seven runs in the sixth inning to tie the score at 10-all. Kansas City used three hurlers, Minneapolis four.

Indianapolis won from Columbus, 8 to 6. Toledo made 17 hits to defeat Louisville, 12 to 5.

VALING the fame of Devereaux Milburn, who retired some seasons ago after establishing himself definitely as the paragon of all polo players, is Lewis Lacey, of Buenos Aires, long ace of the Argentine team and still rated as one of the world's three 10-goal stars. Comparatively small in stature and with thinning gray hair, this nestor of saddle and mallet is playing this week with the native pampas in its international match with the United States team. Lacey is no stranger to the verdant turf of the Meadowbrook Club's greensward. Again he is matching rides and drives with America's candidate for world supremacy as a poloist—the ever thrilling Tommy Hitchcock, Jr. The latter is no longer polo's boy prodigy but he is still one of its three 10-goal wonders—Lacey and Capt. "Pat" Rourke of England being the other two superstars.

Polo, like wrestling and golf, affords a good field for those who have passed youth as well as its flush. Lacey all but knocks the scythe from Father Time's grasp while careering down the field helmeted-for-leather; and Ed "Strangler" Lewis in the late fustome forties, roars rassin' challenges at Jim London, both being fictional champions of the world in the tug-and-tussel tossing of grin, groan, imace and grunt. Walter Hagen, with the Canadian Open laurels fresh on his swarthy brow, is attempting a comeback at the U. S. Professional championship near Providence, R. I., this week. They were starting a World War back in '14 when the "Haig" went after his first major championship.

Baseball has its Pitchers Jack Quinn and Tom Zachary, and Shortstop "Rabbit" Maranville still going strong after decades of service.

And boxing is proud of Jack Britton who retired in 1930 after twenty-seven years of very active ring service.

After all, the vets who last—they're sportdom's real supermen be they poloists, wrestlers, boxers, baseball, marathon or any other sort of specialist in the strenuous ways of give-and-take.

He's Still a Favorite By HARDIN BURNLEY

NEXT Monday and for the rest of the week, the Professional Golfers of America Association will hold its annual championship at Providence, R. I., about a hundred having qualified during August from fields that totaled more than a thousand experts. Practically all the nation's great pros will compete, led by Billy Burke, National Open champion; Tommy Armour, British Open king; Walter Hagen, Canadian Open winner; Leo Diegel, who qualified in dazzling fashion in the New York metropolitan area; "Whiffy" Cox, who was second to him, and—

Then there's the "Missouri Meteor"—Horton Smith—whose game went so horribly awry for more than a year, but who blazed his way back into the headlines last July when he won the St. Paul Open, the Summer's most important links event among the pros. With mournful months of 1930-31 in mind, the handsome Joplin stripling, has meticulously avoided over-golfing since incinerating that Minnesota course. He greatly curtailed exhibition play and should be in the particular pink of one of "Bob" Harlow's choice cravats when he pounds that pill over Roger Williams' historic heaths next week.

The 23-year-old Missourian has yet to win a real major tournament and he'd certainly like to start with the P. G. A. Horton's manager, Harlow, has a hunch that the thrifty Joplin lad will come through this time, in part, because of that "trust-in-Providence" legend graven on silver dollars!

However, Horton himself will have to put his utmost trust in Providence to outshoot what is usually the most skilled field in golf with the possible exception of the U. S. and British Opens. To win, young Smith must excel Tommy Armour, defending P. G. A. champion; the somewhat venerable but (some say) rejuvenated "Haig," who for years used that title as a marker for his largest address book; "Eagle" Diegel, who seems poised for a spectacular swoop, and at least a score of other masters who are primed to make links history at Providence.

South Side and Northeast will wind up city baseball in a blaze of excitement and glory Sunday at 3 p. m. when the teams battle on the municipal field for the city championship.

Three games have already been played in the playoff series. South Side won the first game, Northeast won the next and the third game finished in a 1 to 1 tie.

That tie will be settled and to the winner will go the pennant after nine innings of fast close baseball.

A 20 piece band recruited from all parts of the city will lead rallies for both teams.

Jarboe for Northeast and Franks for the South Side will do mound duties. Both have given wonderful accounts this summer. Franks will leave after the game for his home in St. Paul.

The same lineups to represent the teams this summer will back their respective pitchers.

Erickson, Uddenberg and Sheffo will officiate.

Tickets sold for the three game playoff will not be recognized at the Sunday game. Officials said they hoped everyone attending will come prepared to pay admission.

The championship trophy will be presented the winning team after the game.

GEORGE M. LOTT FACES VINES IN FINAL ROUND

THE NATIONAL TENNIS SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP IS BEING PLAYED TODAY

LOTT ADVANCED BY DECISIVE
3-SET DEFEAT OF JOHNNY
DOEG, FORMER CHAMP

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 12.—George M. Lott of Philadelphia, veteran of four Davis Cup campaigns and twice winner of the United States doubles title, faced Ellsworth Vines, the sensational Pasadena, Calif., youngster, in the final round of the men's national tennis singles championship here today.

Lott gained his berth in the championship bracket by a decisive three-set defeat of Johnny Doeg, defending champion from Newark, N. J., while Vines advanced after a five-set battle with Frederick J. Perry, the brilliant young British internationalist.

Lott and Vines have met twice this season and on both occasions the former has been returned the winner. The Philadelphian defeated the lanky, 19-year-old coast boy on clay at New Orleans during the winter and Vines, taken ill with nervous indigestion, defaulted to him in the Southampton final after four sets had been divided.

Despite this record, Lott will take the court as the underdog. Vines, as a result of victories in four "big time" tournaments this summer, and magnificent play in the national so far, has become the "people's choice" and will have their backing until he falls.

Certainly, the California stripling

looked every inch a champion in rallying to whip Perry yesterday. Beaten and battered in the first two sets he came back with a mighty surge in the last three sets to overwhelm the British star with a barrage of dazzling shots. Not since Tilden ranged the amateur pastures, has a player shown such flawless stroking, such a tremendous service, and such a will to win.

Lott was very impressive in his straight-set rout of Doeg. If he plays today as he did yesterday Vines will be driven to the utmost to win. Doeg, who only the day before had eliminated Frank Shields, No. 1 man in the 1931 Davis Cup squad, was helpless before Lott's withering attack.

CLEARY BOY KILLED IN SIGHT OF FATHER

Child Runs in Front of Parked Car
and is Struck by Machine Driven

ACCIDENT SAID UNAVOIDABLE

Billy Ray Leaves Playmates and Seconds Later He Meets Death;
Funeral Monday

Funeral rites were completed today as final investigations were conducted into the death of William Raymond Cleary, Jr., 4 years one month old, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cleary, 515 North 8th street, killed instantly by a car on North Eighth street at 6:30 p. m. Friday.

John Lundgren, 1009 Fir street, driver of the machine, was absolved of blame in connection with the child's death following investigations by officials.

Coroner D. E. Whitney who probed events of the death announced that no inquest would be necessary.

Billy Ray Jr. was struck and killed in the sight of his father who sat on the porch of his home across the street although the accident happened so quickly Mr. Cleary did not realize it was his boy until he rushed to the scene.

Seconds previously the child was playing with Lois May Sundberg and Billy and Mary Koop in front of the A. T. Fisher residence, 511 North Broadway.

He left the group and started across the street for his home because he was to attend the theatre that evening with his parents. As he ran past the Fisher car parked at the curb the Lundgren car struck him.

Lundgren tried to avoid running over him and swerved to the boulevard in the center of the street. The right front wheel of the car pushed the child along the paving and wedged him against the curbing of the boulevard.

The car was travelling south and as it stopped the left front wheel was on the boulevard.

Dr. M. P. Gerber who had been playing with Billy only 20 minutes earlier rushed from his home at 507 North Eighth street. Gust "Swede" Hedstrom, who rode in the car with Lundgren, aided Dr. Gerber and Lundgren in placing the child in the Lundgren car and rushing him to the hospital.

The child, however, died instantly from a fractured neck, Dr. Gerber said. The boy's right leg was also fractured and mangled.

Dr. Gerber remarked today that the accident was an extremely unfortunate occurrence and that in his and the opinion of others it was unavoidable.

"From what I was able to learn Mr. Lundgren was driving about 20 miles an hour and the child ran so suddenly in front of his car that he didn't have a chance to avoid striking him. The street, divided by the boulevard, is such that there is little room left when one car passes a vehicle. (The boulevards are for one way traffic)," he said.

Dr. Gerber was a particularly close friend to young Billy. The boy visited him often and a strong friendship existed between them.

"They just don't make them finer than Billy," was the expression of the doctor.

Mr. Cleary in a statement said "the accident was unavoidable. It couldn't be helped."

DECLARED NEEDS ARE GREATLY EXAGGERATED IN PUB- LIC MIND

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 12.—Relief needs for the coming winter were discussed between President Hoover and Fred C. Croxton, assistant chairman of the president's committee for unemployment relief today.

Their view, it was learned authoritatively, is that the needs are being greatly exaggerated in the public mind; that the problem will be serious but one that the country is entirely able to handle.

One of the most important essentials at this time, officials in charge of relief activities believe, is that the public maintain a cheerful attitude and discount alarmist assertions. Some of these assertions, coupled with sweeping legislative relief proposals, are having a disturbing effect on the public mind, it is said. The effect is to arouse fears, to cause people unduly to tighten their belts and thus slow down trade and further aggravate unemployment in a vicious cycle.

The administration is particularly concerned over a tendency to make what it regards as exaggerated deductions of relief needs. Because the average family consists of five persons, many have leaped to the conclusion that because it is estimated there will be 6,000,000 or so out of work next winter, this would mean 30,000,000 in want. Drawn between the number of unemployed and the number which will be in want, only about half of those unemployed last winter were regarded as relief problems. There are about 17 bread winners to every ten families according to administration statistics.

Many of those listed as unemployed last winter were only temporarily out of work, due to seasonal conditions. Many were given employment on farms this summer, others on road building and public works, others in handling crops, so that a large number of the unemployed, it is estimated, have had some income since last winter. It is also stated that there is a constant unemployment of about 1,500,000 men even in prosperous times due to the constant shifts in employment—men and women who are out of work for a week or two while moving from one job to another.

Furthermore, it is emphasized that last winter the country had to take care of the victims of the 1930 drought, a problem that will be non-existent this year.

In the light of these considerations, administration officials feel justified in emphasizing their view that some persons are showing undue alarm and contributing to general public fears which are unwarranted.

The Big Whale

The car was run on a huge ferry or float and taken to sea off the coast of the Catalina Island in the Pacific. Then the car was swung overboard by derricks and submerged in 30 feet of water. Next the whale was towed by tugs over the spot where the car was submerged. After much maneuvering between car and tugs, a crane lifted the car until it was directly under "Colossus." Then both the whale and car were raised and swung onto the big float.

The car was specially designed and built for the purpose of exhibiting the whale. All of the woodwork, superstructure and runways for display purposes were constructed on the car after the whale had been seasonally treated and bolted into position.

The car is now stationed at N. P. depot until midnight Sunday and is open daily from 7 to midnight.

Just a Moment, Please

Are not your eyes your best friends? How long since you had them examined thoroughly?

Of course, they are your eyes, and if you want to abuse them it's your privilege, but the cost of examination is very moderate, so why not be careful?

Board Jumper to

This Court Not to Collect Board Bills, Judge Rules as He Disposes
of Complaint

"I find the prisoner guilty and as to this court collecting board bills, I refuse to do it," Judge J. H. Warner said in municipal court today after sentencing W. M. McClees to $20 or 12 days for unlawfully obtaining food and lodging at 1608 Ninth avenue N. E. in the amount of $23.

Acting City Attorney D. H. Fullerton just previously had informed the court that it was not the intention of Clara Benton, complainant, to cause trouble for McClees but she desired to get her money. The suggestion was made that sentence be suspended for three weeks to permit McClees to pay the bill.

McClees, unable to pay the fine, is to serve out the sentence.

Mrs. Benton told the court that McClees had promised to pay her for board and lodging at any time she desired. At the close of the week she asked for pay and McClees informed her he would pay when he received compensation from a shoulder injury.

When he didn't pay her in 23 days she asked him to find another boarding place and again demanded her money. McClees said he could not pay until he could return to work. He had been employed at construction work on the new highway here.

Rains of last night and today quenched all woods fires in the district with the exception of peat fires and danger from these were greatly lessened, District Forest Ranger E. H. Rhodes reported today.

Mr. Rhodes was of the opinion that the situation would not again become serious this fall unless there is a prolonged dry spell.

Hearing Postponed

On application from the Traffic Directors of Winona, Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul Traffic Associations, hearing of railroads operating in the State of Minnesota for increases in class rates, case, which deals with rates ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission in Docket 17,000, Part 2, set down for Monday, September 14, 1931, at 2 p. m., has been postponed until Monday, November 2, 1931, at the same time, in the office of the Commission.

Funeral Director Attends Educational Conference

H. F. Hoenig has returned from Minneapolis where he attended the second annual Joint Conference on Business Procedure, a national movement for business education.

"The Joint Conference uses a very effective method of instruction," declared Mr. Hoenig. "Instead of dry lectures it has engaged a company of professional actors to present the ideas in dramatic form."

Traffic problems of the funeral director, the importance of advertising, the architecture of the modern funeral home, improvement of public relations and principles of merchandise display were among the subjects taken up by the conference.

The greater public interest in funeral goods is due, according to conference experts, to the development of newspaper and magazine advertising by manufacturers and funeral directors and also to a change in the public's attitude toward death. Nowadaze, they point out, people wish to make the last rites memorable not so much for their pain as for their beauty and consolation.

The Joint Conference is covering the entire country with its novel educational technique and is meeting with even greater response among progressive funeral directors than in its first national tour last year, says Mr. Hoenig.

FOR 5TH STRAIGHT DAY TEM-PERATURES HAD HOVERED
IN THE 90'S

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Cold winds from the Canadian Rockies that brought rain and relief from a four-day heat wave to parts of the north-west Thursday night will replace scorching drafts from the southeast, in Minnesota and the Dakotas, the weather man predicted today.

For the fifth straight day temperatures around the 90's brought bathing suit stout of the moth balls as thousands flocked to beaches. The death of Theodore De Sautelle, Minneapolis, brought the heat prostration death toll to two in the northwest. Another victim succumbed to the heat at Ellsworth, Wis., early in the week.

The cooler weather had advanced as far as central North Dakota and temperatures of 44 at Williston, 50 at Bismarck and 36 at Billings, Mont., were reported.

The mercury began its climb from 77 in the Twin City area. The heat wave threatened to break all-time records in other parts of the Atlantic central and plains states. Arizona was the hottest and coldest state of those affected. While the mercury rose to 104 at Phoenix, at Flagstaff in the northern part of the state, it was 42.

A new record was set in New York Thursday when the temperature was reported at 95. Charleston, W. Va., reported 103.

Child Runs in Front of Parked Car

ACCIDENT SAID UNAVOIDABLE

Billy Ray Leaves Playmates and Sec-
Funeral Monday

Funeral rites were completed today as final investigations were conducted into the death of William Raymond Cleary, Jr., 4 years one month old, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cleary, 516 North 8th street, killed instantly by a car on North Eighth street at 6:30 p. m. Friday.

John Lundgren, 1009 Fir street, driver of the machine, was absolved of blame in connection with the child's death following investigations by officials.

Coroner D. E. Whitney who probed events of the death announced that no inquest would be necessary.

Billy Ray Jr. was struck and killed in the sight of his father who sat on the porch of his home across the street although the accident happened so quickly Mr. Cleary did not realize it was his boy until he rushed to the scene.

Seconds previously the child was playing with Lois May Sundberg and Billy and Mary Koop in front of the A. T. Fisher residence, 511 North Broadway. He left the group and started across the street for his home because he was to attend the theatre that evening with his parents. As he ran past the Fisher car parked at the curb the Lundgren car struck him. Lundgren tried to avoid running over him and swerved to the boulevard in the center of the street. The right front wheel of the car pushed the child along the paving and wedged him against the curbing of the boulevard. The car was travelling south and as it stopped the left front wheel was on the boulevard.

Dr. M. P. Gerber who had been playing with Billy only 20 minutes earlier rushed from his home at 507 North Eighth street. Gust "Swede" Hedstrom, who rode in the car with Lundgren, aided Dr. Gerber and Lundgren in placing the child in the Lundgren car and rushing him to the hospital.

The child, however, died instantly from a fractured neck, Dr. Gerber said. The boy's right leg was also fractured and mangled.

Dr. Gerber remarked today that the accident was an extremely unfortunate occurrence and that in his and the opinion of others it was unavoidable. "From what I was able to learn Mr. Lundgren was driving about 20 miles an hour and the child ran so suddenly in front of his car that he didn't have a chance to avoid striking him. The street, divided by the boulevard, is such that there is little room left when one car passes a vehicle. (The boulevards are for one way traffic)," he said.

Dr. Gerber was a particularly close friend to young Billy. The boy visited him often and a strong friendship existed between them.

"They just don't make them finer than Billy," was the expression of the doctor.

Mr. Cleary in a statement said "the accident was unavoidable. It couldn't be helped."

Funeral rites will be conducted at the home Monday morning, Rev. Fr. James Hogan officiating. Interment will be at Evergreen cemetery.

The family requests that no flowers be sent.

FIND BODY OF MAN RESEMBLING CRATER, MISSING JURIST

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(UP)—The body of a man which Erie county officers said resembled Justice Joseph F. Crater, missing New York jurist, was taken from the Buffalo harbor today.

The most striking resemblance was that the tip of the man's right index finger had been amputated apparently some time ago.

The body apparently had been in the water about two weeks. The man was about six feet tall, and appeared to have weighed approximately 355 pounds. Inexpensive clothing on the body bore labels of a Cleveland, O., store.

The man had sandy hair mixed with grey, brown eyes, and a medium complexion. A yellow bold Masonic ring was on a finger of his left hand.

Medical Examiner Rocco de Dominis said he would communicate with New York authorities after he completed his examination later today.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(UP)—A theory that a body found in the Buffalo harbor today was that of the missing New York justice, Joseph F. Crater, was abandoned when it was found that the man's teeth were not false.

The body, as yet unidentified, compared in almost every other respect with descriptions of Justice Crater but when an examination was made by Medical Examiner Rocco de Dominis the important difference was discovered.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Sept. 12.—Relief needs for the coming winter were discussed between President Hoover and Fred C. Croxton, assistant chairman of the president's committee for unemployment relief today.

Their view, it was learned authoritatively, is that the needs are being greatly exaggerated in the public mind; that the problem will be serious but one that the country is entirely able to handle.

One of the most important essentials at this time, officials in charge of relief activities believe, is that the public maintain a cheerful attitude and discount alarmist assertions. Some of these assertions, coupled with sweeping legislative relief proposals, are having a disturbing effect on the public mind, it is said. The effect is to arouse fears, to cause people unduly to tighten their belts and thus slow down trade and further aggravate unemployment in a vicious cycle.

The administration is particularly concerned over a tendency to make what it regards as exaggerated deductions of relief needs. Because the average family consists of five persons, many have leaped to the conclusion that because it is estimated there will be 6,000,000 or so out of work next winter, this would mean 30,000,000 in want. Drawn between the number of unemployed and the number which will be in want, only about half of those unemployed last winter were regarded as relief problems. There are about 17 bread winners to every ten families according to administration statistics. Many of those listed as unemployed last winter were only temporarily out of work, due to seasonal conditions. Many were given employment on farms this summer, others on road building and public works, others in handling crops, so that a large number of the unemployed, it is estimated, have had some income since last winter. It is also stated that there is a constant unemployment of about 1,500,000 men even in prosperous times due to the constant shifts in employment—men and women who are out of work for a week or two while moving from one job to another.

In the light of these considerations, administration officials feel justified in emphasizing their view that some persons are showing undue alarm and contributing to general public fears which are unwarranted.

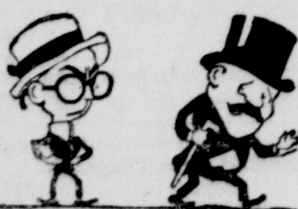

THE BIG WHALE

The car was run on a huge ferry or float and taken to sea off the coast of the Catalina Island in the Pacific. Then the car was swung overboard by derricks and submerged in 30 feet of water. Next the whale was towed by tugs over the spot where the car was submerged. After much maneuvering between car and tugs, a crane lifted the car until it was directly under "Colossus." Then both the whale and car were raised and swung onto the big float.

The car was specially designed and built for the purpose of exhibiting the whale. All of the woodwork, superstructure and runways for display purposes were constructed on the car after the whale had been scientifically treated and bolted into position.

STORM LOSES PACE AGAINST MOUNTAINS

The storm which struck San Juan, Porto Rico, was believed to have lost its pace against a mountain range near Port au Prince, Haiti, in view of radio reports from the Pan-American Airways here that the regular east-bound mail plane left Port au Prince for Santo Domingo today.

BRITISH HONDURAS GRATEFUL FOR AID

New York, Sept. 12.—Sir John Burdon, governor of British Honduras, sent a message of thanks to the United States today through the Pan-American Airways for aid offered and under way to the stricken colony of Belize, B. H.

Sir John's message said:

"British Honduras is profoundly touched by the spirit and the generous offers of assistance from the U. S. government and the Red Cross in their hour of need.

"Overwhelmed as we are by the worst calamity that ever visited our colony, it is difficult for us to express the measure of our heartfelt gratitude to the American nation which has given further proof of its sympathy and generosity to stricken neighbors.

"The colony is under the deepest debt of gratitude to the Pan-American Airways whose ready and willing assistance and co-operation has enabled

UNOFFICIAL REPORTS GIVE DEAD UP TO 700

Belize, B. H., Sept. 12.—Relief for the living and burial for the dead were underway here today following Thursday's terrible hurricane.

Death estimates ran as high as 700. This afternoon the airport manager of the Pan-American Airways, said unofficial estimates made the dead as high as 700.

The hurricane which tore through this community and San Juan, P. R., was apparently spending itself safely at a distance.

Operations were resumed on all Caribbean airlines of the Pan-American Airways system today after mail and passenger schedules were rerouted or cancelled yesterday.

A complete emergency system is operating in British Honduras for the organizing of relief work for that colony.

Eleven weather and radio stations of the Pan-American Airways system, which have been standing 24-hour watches, in the hurricane belt from Mexico to the Virgin Islands, reported moderate weather conditions in the Caribbean territory today.

MARTIAL LAW TO PREVENT LOOTING

Miami, Fla., Sept. 12.—Martial law to prevent looting has been established in Belize, British Honduras, where between 400 and 600 are believed killed and property damage several millions by a hurricane, according to information received here today by Ellis McLane, amateur wireless operator.

McLane reported he had established communication with an amateur American operator in Belize known to him only as "V2BA."

According to messages from the Belize operator, public distribution of supplies has been established in that stricken city.

Residents are being forced to depend on rain caught in a downpour last night for their water supply as all water tanks were destroyed, it was reported.

All boats in the Belize vicinity suffered severe damage, according to the messages, and in some instances vessels and crews disappeared entirely.

RAY OF HOPE FOR MOYLE AND ALLEN

STEAMSHIP PASSENGERS SAY THEY HEARD A MOTOR TUESDAY IN SOUTH ALASKA

Seward, Alaska, Sept. 12.—Word reaching here with the docking of the steamship Alaska brought some hope to searchers that Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen who attempted to make a non-stop flight from Japan to Seattle, may yet be found alive.

Passengers aboard the steamer reported they heard an airplane motor about 11 o'clock last Tuesday night. They said they could not see the plane because of low-hanging mist and darkness.

Although the report was grasped by searchers for the missing aviators as their only definite hope of finding some trace of Moyle and Allen, enthusiasm was dimmed by the fact that the "City of Tacoma II" was not due in the vicinity of the steamer until some time after 11 o'clock last Tuesday.

Searchers intended to renew their quest through southern Alaska, however, in the forlorn hope that the aviators—unreported since shortly after they left the beach at Sabishiro, Japan last Monday—might have succeeded in reaching the mainland.

Several other reports of planes having been heard were found to be false leads.

INVESTIGATE FIRES IN BLACK HILLS

FOLLOWS DYNAMITING OF THE BRIDGE BETWEEN DEADWOOD AND CENTRAL CITY, S. D.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 12.—(UP)—County authorities today began an investigation of the fires raging in Black Hills national forest following the dynamiting of a bridge between here and Central City.

At the same time, officials of the state forestry service were notified today that 500 men have trekked, all but two miles on a 15 mile front of fires burning in a circle from Rockford toward Nahant and Dumont.

An old mill at Nahant thus far is the only building to have been consumed by the flames, although nearness of the fires has lead several ranchers to abandon their farms.

The fires will be well under control by noon unless high winds break out, forestry officials said.

Possibility that the unknown persons who dynamited the bridge might be connected with the starting of the fires caused the investigation.

"MAKE-BELIEVE" by FAITH BALDWIN

Copyright, 1930, by Faith Baldwin Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Travers Lorrimer, son of the wealthy Margaret Lorrimer, broods constantly for Delight Hartford, whom he claims to have married in England during the war. No trace can be found of the girl, and when Travers mistakes Mary Lou Thurston, pretty, young orphan, for Delight, Mrs. Lorrimer induces Mary Lou to play the part. Travers is told he must win "Delight" all over again. In the months that follow, Travers is more attracted to "Delight" than ever. Mary Lou loves Travers and feels she cannot keep up the masquerade. Just as the crisis is reached, Larry Mitchell, Mary Lou's newspaper reporter friend, locates the real Delight acting in a revue. Mary Lou is stunned by the news. Mrs. Lorrimer comforts Mary Lou and plans to investigate. She attends the revue while Jenny Wynne, Larry's fiancée, gives a party to keep Travers from getting suspicious. Mary Lou sees her castle of dreams crumbling about her.

CHAPTER XL

SHE avoided Lorrimer as much as possible. But shortly before supper he danced her right out of the big room and into the indoor flower garden, which was Mrs. Wynne's special hobby. This was a sort of modernized conservatory and perfectly charming. No mid-Victorian atmosphere of gleaming palms and cluttered ferns, but an octagonal room, which in daylight caught all the sun, and, at night was indirectly lighted with a synthetic sunlight, soft, golden, flattering.

The floor was of broken flags, moss grown. On one wall a wall fountain tinkled into a stone basin. Flowers were everywhere, in boxes and pots. Between the great windows, gayly painted lattice-work covered the stone walls and ivy grew upon it, rooted in great stone pots. It was all green glamour, color, perfume and light, with the silver voice of the fountain speaking through it all. There were swinging couches in cool green chintzes, ash trays, curious modern ones, and metal tables. There was even in one corner a very modern metal bookcase for the inclusion of which Mrs. Wynne had been teased by her friends. "Well," said Mrs. Wynne, "it's a grand spot to read in... why not a bookcase, then?"

In this little Eden, Lorrimer danced Mary Lou and sat her down without ceremony.

"You need a rest," he informed her, "and dancing with you is not so good—two turns around, or a turn and a half, and some idiot cuts in."

For the Asking

"No. Of course not. Very wise young man. But, after all, I shall have to look you in that glass case, dearest," said Lorrimer, smiling.

She said nothing. Her heart was greatly moved and greatly troubled.

"Can't you," he asked her, very gently, "can't you make up your mind? You—don't dislike me, I'm sure of that, somehow. Sometimes, I think you care a little. Surely you must. For all my caring there must be some return. You loved me once. Is it so hard to love me again?"

between herself and her fate. She loved him so very much. It was as if, in a sense, she had created him, bringing him back from the darkness in which he had stumbled. He was not only her lover, therefore, but her creation, as if he had been her child.

There was more in her love for him than the beautiful shallows of physical attraction, now warm and sunny, sparkling and stimulating, now moving slowly, darkening, over the hidden rocks. There was tenderness and high hopes and ideals and a comradeship that had grown all these weeks in which they had been together; weeks in which they had come to know one another, not starting, as most people do, from a basis of absolute ignorance, one of the other, but from a basis which was composed of their supposed pre-knowledge of each other... a background, as it were, of old loyalties and intimacies.

"So hard?" he asked again, as she did not speak.

Well, it would soon be over. Margaret would have decided tonight. Had, perhaps, decided by now. Whatever she decided, Mary Lou must go, must lose this Eden. She couldn't go on, putting him off, evading... She couldn't. She looked about her, a little wildly. The flowers sprang from their pots, the hyacinths she had come to hate, the tulips, the narcissuses. Plants give out color and fragrance. The voice of the fountain spoke to her, sang in her blood.

Half Truths

She turned sudden. Better a half truth, perhaps. Better... oh, not for him, for soon he'd know the truth and everything would seem lies when he looked back. Better for her, however, easing her heart a very little. When he knew he'd despise her, he'd think every word she had uttered a falsehood. So it didn't matter, did it, for the sake of a small cold comfort, if she told him... that she cared.

"I do care for you, Lorry," she said clearly, "and you have been dear and patient... and so good to me. I care—a lot. It—oh, the whole thing was so strange, thinking you dead all this time, seeing you again an entirely different person. I—I couldn't just go on where we'd left off. And now—I don't know," she said desperately. "I don't know. If—if you'd give me a little more time—a week perhaps—a month... ? Things aren't clear between us yet," she told him. "We've kept away from certain subjects because it seemed best. There are things I haven't told you," she said, unhappily. "Could you trust me a little longer?"

He drew a deep breath. It was the first time that she had admitted anything at all. He felt that much lay beyond her admission, much that she had not put into words. There was something that troubled her, held her back, he fancied, something deeper than her rather inadequate excuses.

Perhaps—perhaps there had been another man in all those years. Someone she had thought she cared for. Strange that he had never speculated on that possibility since she had returned to him, although, God knows, it had agonized him sufficiently before her return. His heart ached a little, thinking. But how natural—in all those years, young and lovely, many men must have found her beloved.

Whatever she had to tell him would make no difference. He loved her. If she loved him that was really all that mattered. "I don't want to force you," he said slowly, "and you've already made me very happy. I'm grateful... beyond words. Take all the time you want... and when you are ready... I'll be waiting. I can't believe, though, that you would have given me this much hope unless, for my waiting, you were promising a reward. I haven't kissed you," he said abruptly, "for a very long time."

He leaned near and put his arms about her, gently. "Ah, don't!" she said pitifully. "Do you mean that? Say you mean it, swear to me you mean it, and I will let you go."

But she said nothing. There was nothing she could say. She was quite still in his embrace.

Surrender

"Just—tonight," he urged... "There's Jenny and Larry—and a dozen other youngsters, happy, in love, holding each other close."

Her eyes closed. He kissed the broad white lids, kissed the curve of her cheek, where it melted rosy into the smooth, red satin of her lips, kissed, finally, with tenderness, with passion, the quivering little mouth.

Suddenly she twisted in his arms and, her hands desperately on his shoulders, gave him back his kiss, abandoning herself to it, surrendering... yielding. Then, with a little sob, she freed herself almost brusquely and rose to her feet and walked back into the great lighted room.

Lorrimer followed her, his heart singing. As he reached her, in the curved doorway, he touched her arm.

"Delight?" he asked... and lower—"Darling?"

"Please," said Mary Lou, in a curious, cool little voice... "please—forget that, Lorry. It was—madness. I have your promise," she told him, "and—and I'll keep my word to you, when the time comes."

"But why—why?" he asked, hating her then in the doorway. "Madness," said Mary Lou, "and madness... and being young... and Lorry, don't make me—ashamed!"

One of the Wynne boys stepped up to claim her.

"No fair letting that big brute monopolize you!" he announced, for all the world to hear.

She danced away, then, moving gracefully, automatically. St. Mary was "ashamed." Not even sorry. She... she had been mad to suffer his kiss, still more insane to return it, as she had returned it, with all the ardor of her body, heart and soul. But she was glad! "I—he'll hate me anyway," she told herself savagely, "and I wanted something to remember." she said to herself, "something of my own, something that was honest. He'll never know," said Mary Lou to her heart, "how honest and how much his own I was—just for a minute."

Meanwhile Margaret Lorrimer and Dr. Matthews sat through the colorful inanities of the imported revue, which dragged itself out until almost midnight, as is the way of first nights. It had opened out of town, had been twice rewritten and three times cut, before the New York opening, and would be due for more cutting after tonight. The audience was, as usual, distinguished—distinguished, that is, by the bored attendance of critics and the late arrival of society people, and the early arrival of various stage dignitaries. There were enough jewels and bare shoulders in the house to grace the horseshoe circle at the Metropolitan.

400 REPORTED DEAD, 600 HURT IN HURRICANES

STORM LOPES PACE AGAINST MOUNTAINS

Miami, Fla., Sept. 12.—One of the two tropical hurricanes which brought destruction in the Caribbean apparently had spent itself today.

New York, Sept. 12.—Sir John Burdon, governor of British Honduras, sent a message of thanks to the United States today through the Pan-American Airways for aid offered and under way to the stricken colony of Belize, B. H.

Sir John's message said: "British Honduras is profoundly touched by the spirit and the generous offers of assistance from the U. S. government and the Red Cross in her hour of need.

"Overwhelmed as we are by the worst calamity that ever visited our colony, it is difficult for us to express the measure of our heartfelt gratitude to the American nation which has given further proof of its sympathy and generosity to stricken neighbors. "The colony is under the deepest debt of gratitude to the Pan-American Airways whose ready and willing assistance and co-operation has enabled

the government to get in touch with the outer world."

UNOFFICIAL REPORTS GIVE DEAD UP TO 700

Belize, B. H., Sept. 12.—Relief for the living and burial for the dead were underway here today following Thursday's terrible hurricane.

Seward, Alaska, Sept. 12.—Word reaching here with the docking of the steamship Alaska brought some hope to searchers that Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen who attempted to make a non-stop flight from Japan to Seattle, may yet be found alive.

Travers Lorrimer, son of the wealthy Margaret Lorrimer, broods constantly for Delight Harford, whom he claims to have married in England during the war. No trace can be found of the girl, and when Travers mistakes Mary Lou Thurston, pretty, young orphan, for Delight, Mrs. Lorrimer induces Mary Lou to play the part. Travers is told he must win "Delight" all over again. In the months that follow, Travers is more attracted to "Delight" than ever. Mary Lou loves Travers and feels she cannot keep up the masquerade. Just as the crisis is reached, Larry Mitchell, Mary Lou's newspaper reporter friend, locates the real Delight acting in a revue. Mary Lou is stunned by the news. Mrs. Lorrimer comforts Mary Lou and plans to investigate. She attends the revue while Jenny Wynne, Larry's fiancée, gives a party to keep Travers from getting suspicious. Mary Lou sees her castle of dreams crumbling about her.

CHAPTER XL

SHE avoided Lorrimer as much as possible. But shortly before supper he danced her right out of the big room and into the indoor flower garden, which was Mrs. Wynne's special hobby. This was a sort of modernized conservatory and perfectly charming. No mid-Victorian atmosphere of gleaming palms and cluttered ferns, but an octagonal room, which in daylight caught all the sun, and, at night was indirectly lighted with a synthetic sunlight, soft, golden, flattering.

The floor was of broken flags, moss grown. On one wall a fountain tinkled into a stone basin. Flowers were everywhere, in boxes and pots. Between the great windows, gayly painted lattice-work covered the stone walls and ivy grew upon it, rooted in great stone pots. It was all green glamour, color, perfume and light, with the silver voice of the fountain speaking through it all. There were swinging couches in cool green chintzes, ash trays, various modern ones, and metal tables. There was even in one corner a very modern metal bookcase for the inclusion of which Mrs. Wynne had been teased by her friends. "Well," said Mrs. Wynne, "it's a grand spot to read in... why not a bookcase, then?"

In this little Eden, Lorrimer danced Mary Lou and sat her down without ceremony. "You need a rest," he informed her, "and dancing with you is not so good—two turns around, or a turn and a half, and some idiot cuts in."

He sat in the corner of the couch, leaning forward, the light clear upon his eager, ardent face, his strong hands clasped between his knees.

"No. Of course not. Very wise young man. But, after all, I shall have to look you in that glass case, dearest," said Lorrimer, smiling.

She said nothing. Her heart was greatly moved and greatly troubled.

"Can't you," he asked her, very gently, "can't you make up your mind? You—don't dislike me, I'm sure of that, somehow. Sometimes, I think you care a little. Surely you must. For all my caring there must be some return. You loved me once. Is it so hard to love me again?"

She made a little, indistinct murmur, put up one slender hand as if she interposed it, blindly, between herself and her fate. She loved him so very much. It was as if, in a sense, she had created him, bringing him back from the darkness in which he had stumbled. He was not only her lover, therefore, but her creation, as if he had been her child.
